

“Yes, Trump Supporters Do Have a Grievance.” The note that was here originally explained how rural regions lose resources as urban regions expand and grow. The essay that was here has been updated, expanded, and turned into an academic paper. If you wish to look at an academic Working Paper, please close this document and scroll down.

The analysis is partly about the challenges of farming in today’s financial environment. A similar analysis can be used to explore the challenges of the rest of the economy, when there is much investment in Artificial Intelligence. For more details, please see the Essays page, and/or the Systemic Bias page of this website.
